MSCPVA Celebrates America's Veterans

Denver, Colorado — For nearly 90 years, America has been honoring its military veterans on November 11th to celebrate their bravery and sacrifice for this nation. Although the holiday was originally known as Armistice Day to honor the end of World War I, it has since become a day to honor American veterans of all wars.

The men and women who selflessly served our nation in times of crisis should be remembered by all. The Paralyzed Veterans of America Mountain States Chapter (MSCPVA) will be celebrating National Veterans Awareness Week (Nov. 9-15, 2008) by participating in Denver's Veterans Day parade and attending various events within the community to thank our local veterans for the sacrifices they made for the love of country.

This Veterans Day, join MSCPVA in honoring and supporting our veterans by getting involved in your local veterans service organization and giving back to those who have been vital in maintaining the freedoms and way of life enjoyed by the people of this nation.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy said it best when he said, "As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words, but to live by them." By helping veterans, you are demonstrating your commitment to remembrance by changing the life of a veteran in your community and honoring the sacrifices they have made. For more information on how you can support your local paralyzed veterans, visit our website at www.mscpva.org.
